Welcome to the June edition of our newsletter

As we edge closer to the summer months, our thoughts inevitably turn to summer holidays, which this year, still very much remain in the balance, in particular, travel abroad. So, if you're lucky enough to have already booked your staycation then all the better, otherwise it is anticipated that these will not only be fully booked but are also likely to be more expensive than usual. Equally, one might still be erring on the side of caution and not feel comfortable enough to venture further afield. Whatever your decision, at least we are now looking at some resemblance of normality with the easing of restrictions.
